

Online Recruitment 2012 : The Year Ahead Conference Directions

The Royal Geographical Society is located in Kensington at the junction of Exhibition Road and Kensington Gore.

Tube

South Kensington Station (Circle, District & Piccadilly Lines) - 10-15 minute walk up Exhibition Road (beyond the Science Museum and Imperial College).

Knightsbridge Station (Piccadilly Line) - 15 minute walk along Kensington Road.

Lancaster Gate Station (Central Line) - 15-20 minute walk across Hyde Park.

Bus

Several bus routes stop outside the Society:

9 - Hammersmith ↔ Aldwych

10 - Hammersmith ↔ King's Cross

52 - Willesden ↔ Victoria

360 - Kensington ↔ Elephant & Castle

452 - Wandsworth ↔ Willesden

Rail

The nearest mainline railway stations are London Victoria (52 bus) & London Paddington (25 minutes walk).

Bicycle

Bicycles can be locked against the bike stands, located at the main entrance on Exhibition Road. Space is limited. Bicycles are left at their owner's risk. Please make sure bicycles are secured as thieves are known to work in the area. Alternatively, you can use the London cycle hire scheme.

Car

There are no car parking facilities at the Society. The Society is not located within central London's Congestion Charge area. There is limited public parking in Hyde Park, although car parking restrictions operate in the area often until late at night. The nearest car park to the Society is a 24-hour public car park at Kingston House, Princes Gate.

Air

From London Heathrow, take the Piccadilly Line to South Kensington. Allow at least an hour for this journey. Alternatively take the Heathrow Express to London Paddington, a journey of about 15 minutes.

From London Gatwick airport, take the Gatwick Express to London Victoria.